Why this exists

THE PROBLEM

Most vintage collectors are running their hobby out of spreadsheets, screenshots, and Facebook DMs:

- Inventory in spreadsheets, screenshots, and DMs.
- Chasing payments and tagging prior bidders by hand.
- Searching eBay one card at a time — slow and error-prone.
- Scrolling FB feeds, hoping a card on your want list shows up.

OUR SOLUTION

One workspace for the vintage collector and small-volume FB seller:

- Set tracking, bulk import, scan tools, want-list matching.
- eBay scanning across every card you don't own yet.
- FB auction & claim-sale runner with bidder history.
- Marketplace + future matchmaking surfaces cards to the members who actually need them.

Getting in

Open sports-collective.com, sign up with email + password — you'll land directly on the home feed during the pilot.

In the production release, this will sit behind a short application form. We'll only admit members with proven collecting feedback and references.

10-minute walkthrough — your first set

Card inventory management — set tracking, scans, default target, and the eBay want-list scanner.

1. (60 sec)

Add a cover + avatar. From the home feed, hover the cover area / round avatar and drop in any photos with the badges. Keeps the page from looking empty later.

2. (5 sec)

Click MY SHELF in the top nav. Empty for now — about to change.

3. (45 sec)

Click + NEW UPLOAD → Select a set from the dropdown. Pick a year + brand you actually collect — 1971 Topps, 1955 Bowman, whatever you've got going. Click Save & Edit Set.

4. (2 min)

You're in the set table — one row per card. Top-row checkbox to select all → in the bulk-edit bar set Owned → Yes → Apply to N rows. Now go through and flip 5–10 cards you don't own to No with the dropdown. Don't be precise yet — just enough to feel it.

5. (~2 min)

Click DEFAULT TARGET at the top. Pick the condition you'd actually buy — Raw, VG–EX to EX–MT works for most vintage. Click Save Target.

6. (~2 min)

Click ADD SCANS, then Add Scans to Set Inventory. Pick the set you just created. Select one of the cards from the list, click Start Scanning, drop 2 photos in the box (or click Choose Files). Click Save All → View Set. Scroll right on the table to see the images attached. Works for batches too — just keep your scans in the same order as the cards you selected.

7. (5 sec)

Click the SC logo top-left to go home. Scroll down to Your Feed.

8. (~2 min)

Click eBay HITS → pick your set → Search eBay. This pulls active eBay listings for every card you don't own, filtered to your target condition. Watch the matches roll in. Click any hit — opens straight to the eBay listing.

9. (30 sec)

Back to your set: MY SHELF top-left → click your set → Want List PDF. Take a look at the download — that's the checklist you'd carry to a card show.

10. (90 sec)

Explore. Logo → top nav → Marketplace, then Members. If you have card scans handy, try Add Scans on your set.

That's the inventory loop.

Hit me when you're done — I want to know what felt good and what felt confusing.

15-minute walkthrough — selling

Build a single listing, research a price, then run a mock Facebook auction end-to-end.

1. (Listing)

Click My Listings in the top nav → + New Listing → Blank Listing.

2. (Form)

Fill out the card info, pick Raw or Graded with the badges, choose the condition from the dropdown.

3. (Price)

Enter your asking price. Click Research Prices to pop the comp form, or type a number directly. Add your cost (so the site can calculate your profit later) and any details about the card.

4. (Research)

Research Prices lets you log recent sales to benchmark your pricing. Each entry is saved per card — revisit it any time. Weight comps by how comparable they look (centering, corners, eye appeal); weights total 100%.

5. (Shipping)

Pick the shipping options you want by clicking the × next to options you're removing, and edit the amount you charge.

6. (Photos & activate)

Click Draft to find your listing → Edit → Photos box → load up to 5 photos in the order you want them shown → Save Changes. Click Activate — your listing is now live on the marketplace and available to any FB tool.

7. (FB template)

FB Sales in the top nav → Auctions → Templates → + New next to Single Card Templates. Edit the body for your usual auction style — leave anything in {} alone, those are autofilled. Click Create Template.

8. (New auction)

Auctions badge → + New Auction → pick Single Card (turns orange) → click the listing you created (highlights, table appears). Scroll to Edit Post Body, tweak as needed → Generate Auction.

9. (Suggested bidders)

Suggested Past Bidders populates from your historical bidding data. Nothing to do today — but worth knowing the feature is there for later.

10. (Post to FB)

Copy the post text → pick a background color → Download Side-by-Side Image → paste both into your FB post → click Go Live here.

11. (Run the auction)

Paste your live FB post URL for quick access. Use this page to enter the bids you receive — the system autosaves on click-out, builds bidder history, and updates the small "N bids · M unique bidders" counter on the listing.

12. (Bidder data)

Click Bidders in the top nav → click any bid count → see exactly what they've bid on, shipping info, contact details. Your data only — never shared with other members.

13. (Settle the auction)

FB Auctions → switch the listing dropdown from LIVE → ENDED (snapshot totals update). Click Manage → scroll to Settlement / Buyer Invoices → Copy Messenger Invoice → paste in FB Messenger.

14. (Mark sold)

When payment lands, repeat the dropdown — switch to SOLD. The system organizes auctions across Live / Ended / Sold / Paid tabs so you can keep track at a glance.

Beyond this walkthrough

There are multi-card auctions, claim sales, and a flow built for large set-break runs that this 15-minute tour skips. Same shape, more cards. Ask me to show those whenever.

A note on the pilot

Looking for the first 100 users.

If you're reading this you're one of them. Here's the deal:

- You'll never pay anything to use the site for as long as it exists. No subscription, no marketplace fees, nothing — for you, forever.
- Your data is exportable. If at any point you decide to leave, I'll set up a clean export so nothing gets stranded.
- I want your feedback. What broke, what felt awkward, what was actually delightful — every note shapes what ships next.

Thanks for being here.
